The E-minor pentatonic scale (mentioned in the last two worksheets) works with all of today's songs. Once you've played along with them as normal, why not try playing the scale along with the songs. Play it as slow as you like, and don't worry about making mistakes! :-)

Songwriting challenge:

Watch Axis of Awesome playing "Four Chord Song":

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5pidokakU4I&feature=youtu.be>

This week, try writing your own four-chord song. It might be easier to use a slightly different combination of chords than they use in the video. Let's use: G / D / Em / C .

Looking forward to hearing the results!

The Blues Corner: Little Red Rooster (open tuning)

Duncan takes us through Little Red Rooster with an Open D guitar tuning.

Weekly Poetry (Lunes – 3/5/3)

We have been working on a type of poetry that uses a structure where you just write 3 lines.

It's simple, 3 words on the 1st line, 5 words on the 2nd line, 3 words on the 3rd line. That's it!

See how you go and you can maybe share them on a weekly basis. Example:

What will happen, When the grey sky turns, Like a dancer

And finally, here's a lovely documentary about Luke Kelly of The Dubliners:
